

Sending Inspections to the Homeowner to Sign

The new way reps get the Free Roof Inspection Agreement signed

Why this changed

Some homeowners were claiming they never signed. Now the homeowner signs on their own phone and proves it's them with a code we text to their number — so nobody can ever say “I never signed that.”
Reps no longer sign on their own device.

How to do it — step by step

1. Fill in the homeowner's info like always — name, mobile number, email, address, roof type.
Double-check the mobile number: that's how they get the link and the code.
2. There is no “Sign Now” anymore. You'll see a green note that the homeowner signs on their own phone. Continue to send.
3. We text AND email the homeowner a secure link. Your screen says “Signing Link Sent — waiting for them to sign.” You're done — nothing to upload.
4. The homeowner opens the link → we text them a 6-digit code → they type it in → check the box to agree to sign electronically → sign with their finger → submit.
5. The second they finish, it's created in JobNimbus automatically with the signed PDF (full audit trail). You and the office get a text/email that it's signed.

Good to know

- The link is good for 72 hours. Need to resend? Just send it again.
- No email on file? The text alone works.
- The homeowner can sign from any phone — they do not need the app.
- If the code doesn't arrive, they can tap Resend code on the page.
- Make sure the mobile number is correct — it's both how they get in and how we prove it was them.
